

We in the climate protection movement MYBLUEPLANET are looking for a

«Volunteer Comms & Marketing Strategist»

You are an experienced communications and marketing strategist. You want to contribute your skills to address climate change. You have the time to create a tailored strategy for MYBLUEPLANET's new Romandie Hub that will excite people to contribute to climate protection. Then maybe you are our new Communications & Marketing Strategist.

Your area of responsibility:

You provide creative out-of-the box thinking for communications and marketing of the new Hub

Together with the Regional Director you create a practical, action-oriented communications & marketing

You bring:

- 5+ years of work experience in communications manager
- Experience of creating communications plans or implementing campaigns.
- French mother tongue with working knowledge of German and English.

We offer you:

- Opportunity to show case your skills and bring your own ideas
- Highly motivated colleagues with different backgrounds
- You can name us as a reference (depending on regular engagement)
- Flexible working hours

Your application:

Please send your complete electronic application with the title "Volunteer Communications & Marketing Strategist" to devendra.rana@myblueplanet.ch.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact the same e-mail address.